

England Talent Programme: C1 development days for Athletes and Club Coaches

The aim of the England Talent Programme is to develop a pathway that delivers an oversupply of talented athletes in all Olympic classes to the UK Programme. As the cycle progresses it is the desire to achieve a balanced (gender and class) inclusion across all squads.

Currently there are less competitors in the C1 classes and these sessions are part of a number of efforts designed to help promote participation and encourage coaching within the discipline. Daniel Goddard (ex GB team athlete) will be leading these camps and will be drawing on his extensive experience both as an ex international athlete and coach working across a number of development programmes.

These camps will be trailed in the 2018/19 winter, the content of the days will be bespoke to the needs and abilities of those individuals that expressed an interest in attending. We truly want to impact C1 development and want to ensure that the learning outcomes from these days are carried into regular sessions. Coaches are highly encouraged to attend with their athletes and there will be a focus on coach development built into the days provision.

These days will evolve to suit the needs of the group in order to best impact the discipline in the long term. Sessions and camps will be split into ability levels to ensure learning outcomes are matched to the groups' capability. Places are limited so please sign up in advance to avoid disappointment. Capacity and spaces will be limited by the level and ability of those athletes, coaches that sign up and the impact this has on the development of effective training groups.

The cost of camps days (listed below) will be £10 per day (athletes that attend with a club coach go free) and participants will be required to arrange for their own water access at the Whitewater reception.

Limited equipment can be loaned on the day. Please make enquires with dan.goddard@britishcanoeing.org.uk in advance of the day. Parents or guardians will need to be present throughout the day/session.
